

MASTERS TEEN ACTING PROGRAM

Our Masters class is dedicated to advanced student actors who want to take their acting to the next level. The program will challenge their work, identify intention, specify objectives and always assist students' in rooting themselves and their work in truth. In addition to fine tuning our students' acting skills, we also identify the steps it takes to become a working actor, how to navigate the industry as a professional and hone work ethic. We'll focus on auditioning (in person and self tapes), resume writing & headshots, self promotion, how to submit/select representation, character development, scene study and so much more. Students are encouraged to meet outside of class time to rehearse with scene partners and to come to class prepared and memorized. Auditions are required. Accepted student actors must commit to the program for the school year (September - June).

Additional requirements include volunteering at studio events, shadowing beginner and intermediate classes, attendance to special events outside of class/studio time.

Masters Teen Actors and Families agree to the following:

- Attendance weekly
 - On Time
 - In case of sickness or a booking you will be required to make-up class.
- Enrollment is from September to June. Canceling early families will be responsible for the remaining tuition of the year.
- Minimum of 2 hours per month volunteer time (working with other classes, Studio time, helping coaches with classes).
- We will have 4-6 activities that students will be required to attend during the year. These are in addition to regular classes. Advanced notice will be provided. Students will need to connect with their coach if attendance is not possible. Attend outings on non-class days. For example tours of casting studios, The Studio NW events, Make-A-Movie screenings.
- Marketing opportunities such as helping at festivals and trade events.
- Masters will be part of keeping up with social media. As an actor in today's world we all need to be mindful of our part in social media. Masters agree to not only uphold themselves in a positive way but will be required to lift up the studio and each other.

ADVANCED ACTING CLASS

This class is for the student actor ready to take on more challenging material and commitment to training for acting in TV & Film. The Advanced class is for student actors who are interested in joining our Masters Acting Program in the future. Actors have either been part of our program and invited by the instructors or have auditioned and accepted into the class. All are excited about acting for TV/Film!

The Advanced class will build a solid foundation in a variety of acting techniques (Meisner based training), learn and refine their auditioning skills (self-tape and live), deep dive into character development, work on scenes with fellow classmates, tap into original material and so much more. We provide opportunities for our students to share original material and receive feedback in a safe, creative environment with the trust of their fellow classmates. Our student actors have many opportunities to perform on-camera and review taped work to build confidence and refine technique.

The Advanced Acting class does not have the specific requirements as our Masters Teen Acting Program. Students are encouraged to meet outside of class time to rehearse with scene partners and to come to class prepared and memorized. This class does have additional opportunities to attend outings on non-class days. We will have one or two activities that will be required to attend. These are in addition to regular classes. Advanced notice will be provided. Students will need to connect with their coach if attendance is not possible. We will also have other events that students will be invited to but not required. For example tours of casting studios, The Studio NW events, Make-A-Movie screenings.
